

Fearlessly Different

ART SHOW | SILENT AUCTION

benefiting FACES: The National Craniofacial Association

Dear Friend,

We invite you to participate in Fearlessly Different: Art Show and Silent Auction, benefiting FACES: The National Craniofacial Association on November 5, 2023, from 2 pm until 5 pm at Bud's Creative Arts Center in Hixson, Tennessee.

This inaugural event will bring the community together to experience an art show exhibiting pieces from regional professional, amateur, and student artists. Artists will be exhibiting their interpretation of the contest theme: Fearlessly Different – a symbolic self-portrait: What makes you, you?

FACES is asking community partners, like you, to help make this fundraiser a success. Your support will help us fulfill our mission, which began over 50 years ago when a little girl named Debbie Fox from Soddy-Daisy, Tennessee, was born with a severe craniofacial deformity.

For over 50 years, FACES has assisted children and adults with craniofacial disorders resulting from birth, accident, or disease requiring specialized medical care. FACES provides financial assistance for the cost of travel to out-of-town medical treatments, helping families who would otherwise be financially unable to go.

We could not do it without supporters like you. Please consider supporting Fearlessly Different Art Show and Silent Auction. Your generosity will help more families get to the surgeries they desperately need. See the enclosed information on sponsorship levels. All donations to FACES, a 501 (c) 3 non-profit, are tax-deductible to the fullest extent of the law.

Thank you for considering supporting Fearlessly Different: Art Show and Silent Auction. Please do not hesitate to contact me at 423-266-1632 or emily@faces-cranio.org if you have any questions. I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely,

Emily McKay
Communications Director
